RESPONSES TO THE GLOBAL CRISIS: charting a progressive path

conference book

Dear friends and colleagues,

It is our pleasure to welcome you to this year's Progressive Governance Conference, organised by Policy Network and Instituto Igualdad.

With only a few days before the next G20 meeting, this conference comes at a crucial moment for the progressive centre-left.

The global financial crisis has dealt a shattering blow to the neo-liberal faith in laissez-faire as the dominant guiding principle for the organisation of markets. The crisis has also exposed the fragility of globalisation: as sources of financing dry up, we are witnessing a dramatic collapse in world trade, shrinking capital flows and a worrying rise in anti-immigrant sentiment.

These developments have huge implications for the future of any centre-left project, whether in the developed or developing world. On the one hand, progressive governments and policy-makers will need to re-build an international economic and financial order at a time when the tendency is to focus on state-level solutions. On the other hand, as faith in unregulated markets crumbles, they will need to fill an ideological vacuum which risks being taken over by populists.

Meeting these challenges will require a critical but forward-looking debate on the issues and options available for reform. The conference today should provide an excellent forum for such a debate.

We are delighted and honoured to welcome you to Viña del Mar and we look forward to working with you in the future.

With warm regards,

Lord Giles Radice
Chair, Policy Network

Senador Ricardo Núñez Muñoz
President, Instituto Igualdad

Estimados amigos y colegas,

Nos complace darles a cada uno de ustedes la bienvenida al Seminario de Gobernanza Progresista de este año, organizado por Policy Network e Instituto Igualdad.

Esta conferencia tiene lugar en un momento crucial para el progresismo y la centro-izquierda, justo pocos días antes de la próxima reunión del G20.

La crisis financiera ha sacudido el credo neo-liberal en el "laissez-faire" como principio predominante y guía para la organización de los mercados. Asimismo, la crisis ha demostrado la fragilidad del proceso de globalización. La creciente escasez de fuentes de financiamiento está precipitando un descenso dramático en el comercio internacional, una fuerte contracción en los flujos de crédito y un inquietante incremento en los sentimientos de intolerancia hacia los trabajadores inmigrantes.

Estos fenómenos tienen importantes implicancias para el futuro de cualquier proyecto político progresista, tanto en los países en vías de desarrollo como en los más desarrollados. Por un lado, obligan a los gobiernos y a los políticos progresistas a reconstruir un orden financiero y económico internacional en un momento en el que la tendencia política es mirar hacia dentro y buscar sólo soluciones nacionales. Por otro lado, enfrentados a un declive de la confianza en el mercado desregulado, los progresistas deben llenar el vacío ideológico con urgencia, pues de lo contrario, existe el riesgo de que sea hecho por los políticos populistas.

Enfrentar estos desafíos requerirá un debate crítico y con visión de futuro sobre los temas y opciones disponibles para la reforma. El actual Seminario constituye un foro importante para avanzar en este debate.

Tenemos el honor y el agrado de darles la bienvenida a Viña del Mar y esperamos poder seguir contando con vuestra participación en el futuro.

Saludos cordiales,

Lord Giles Radice
Chair, Policy Network

Senator Ricardo Núñez Muñoz
Presidente, Instituto Igualdad

Launched in 2000 with the support of the then heads of government, Tony Blair, Gerhard Schröder, Guilano Amato and Göran Persson, it facilitates the sharing of ideas and experiences among politicians, policymakers and experts on the centre-left.

Policy Network's president is Peter Mandelson, UK secretary of state for business, enterprise and regulatory reform. The chair and vice chair are Giles Radice and Roger Liddle, respectively. The director is Olaf Cramme.

Through its international programme of research, publications and events, Policy Network seeks to promote international best practice and provide innovative answers to shared problems, equipping social democratic modernisers with the intellectual tools necessary to meet the policy and political challenges of the 21st century. Currently our research programme and core activities encompass the following themes:

Progressive Governance

Since its launch in 1999, the Progressive Governance Network of international policymakers and academics has been at the heart of Policy Network's activity, with major conferences and summits held in Washington, Berlin, Stockholm, London, Budapest and Johannesburg over the past decade. Today's event, dedicated to the future of progressive politics after the financial crisis, is the latest in this series of high profile gatherings.

Foresight: forging common futures in a multi-polar world

Foresight is an international programme of investigation and debate structured around the challenge of forging common futures in a multi-polar world, organised by the Alfred Herrhausen Society, the international forum of Deutsche Bank, in partnership with Policy Network. The initiative aims to foster better multilateral understanding of the key challenges facing today's major players in order to promote a fairer and more functional international order. It was launched with a major symposium in Russia (June 2008), and further events are planned in the US (June 2009), Europe (October 2009), Brazil, India and China.

The politics of climate change

This project aims to challenge conventional policy thinking on climate change; its focus is on the need for more urgent national action and leadership, as well as the complex political challenges western democracies will encounter in dramatically reducing their greenhouse gas emissions over the coming decades. Plans are in place to launch an expert Policy Network pamphlet on climate change politics at a major international conference on 5th June, 2009. Project output to date includes Anthony Giddens' influential new book, The Politics of Climate Change (Polity 2009).

An EU “fit for purpose” in the global age

This project consists of an interdisciplinary, cross-party investigation of policy options for the EU post-2009 that aims to establish “what kind of Europe” is “fit for purpose in the global age” through the analysis and discussion of how the EU can reform itself both “internally” and “externally” to respond to the challenges of globalisation. The upcoming publication of the substantial synthesis report “Options for the EU post-2009” expands on the project’s findings to date and will lay the ground for the production of three volumes of collected papers on these issues to be published in the autumn.

Globalisation and social justice

This research programme looks at the changing facets of progressive policy with reference to the pursuit and enhancement of social justice in light of rapid global change. The recent publication of the landmark volume Social Justice in the Global Age (Olaf Cramme & Patrick Diamond, Polity Press, 2009), builds on the programme’s findings to date, developing a robust theoretical framework that aims to sustain new forms of equity and solidarity.

Events

Policy Network encourages debate on contemporary social, economic and political issues by organising seminars, conferences and round-table discussions, bringing together senior policymakers and leading experts, and offering a unique international perspective on today’s challenges and policy solutions.

Publications

Through its high profile publications Policy Network seeks to have an impact on policy in Europe and internationally. It produces two types of publications: edited volumes which contain in-depth qualitative or quantitative research; and online papers and essays published on the website.
